

Transfer Pathway Map for Logistics

Student Name _____

ID Number _____

Students who complete this program are prepared to pursue the bachelor’s degree in business administration with a major in logistics and intermodal transportation at a senior university awarding this degree, such as Georgia Southern University. Transportation firms, industry and government alike employ graduates trained and qualified in the coordination of intermodal transportation and supply chain management. With appropriate advisement, the A.S. degree in Logistics also prepares graduates for the bachelor's degree in accounting, economics, finance, general business, international business, industrial relations, management, management systems, marketing, real estate, risk management, and insurance. Academic advisement for this program is provided by the School of Arts & Professional Studies.
