

David VanLandingham

Part Time Instructor of Business
South Georgia State College

David VanLandingham is a part-time instructor in the School of Arts and Sciences, where he brings his extensive experience in higher education administration to the classroom. Mr. VanLandingham holds a Bachelor of Business Administration in Management from Valdosta State University and a Master of Arts in Industrial-Organizational Psychology from the University of Georgia. He is currently pursuing a Doctor of Philosophy in Global Leadership at Troy University. His research interests include organizational change, quality assurance, and leadership development within higher education.

His teaching focuses on industrial-organizational psychology, organizational behavior, and non-profit program planning and evaluation. With a career dedicated to institutional effectiveness, Mr. VanLandingham has a strong background in accreditation and quality assurance, policy compliance, grant management, and strategic planning. His work is centered on improving student success through strategic assessment and planning.